INTRODUCTION

Preliminary words

Dear Readers,

In 2018 COFACE Families Europe celebrated its 60th anniversary with a get-together to remember and thank our founding fathers and mothers for their belief in the strength of the family, for their belief in Europe and their fight for a European human policy with the family as a cornerstone. In 1958, a year after the creation of the European Economic Community, they joined forces and started defending the family as a consumer-unit in Europe! The years to follow COFACE members pushed for a “family policy” and mainstreamed the family dimension beyond consumer policy into the economic, social, education and disability fields.

Today COFACE Families Europe is an open and pluralistic network. From 6 founding organisations we moved to 50+ member organisations. We shifted from the “family” to “families” as we represent millions of families in their diversity. We also celebrated the 20 years of COFACE Disability, as well as our 10th anniversary of successful partnership with the European Commission!

The annual report you have in your hands shows clearly the wide range of expertise of our members and the activities we organised together: a series of successful European events and a conference “Building sustainable and future proof education systems”. We advocated for a safer internet for kids and we adopted and promoted 13 digitalisation principles and core values to ensure digitalisation serves the general interest of all EU families. The #Iwantwork-lifebalance campaign was our main advocacy action in 2018 together with a broad Alliance of European NGOs, and helped by our Penguins, we supported the work-life balance package initiated by European Commissioner Marianne Thyssen. We worked day and night to convince the European Parliament and the Council of Ministers to approve this first concrete legislative proposal of the European Pillar of Social Rights. We called on the European Parliament and the Council to seize the opportunity to meet the needs of families and we urged them to support and approve the Work-life balance directive without watering it down, we raised awareness of the need for fathers to be more involved in care, with the ambition to close the gender care gap.

Throughout the year there were tough moments – securing an agreement on the EU work-life balance directive was a road full of hurdles, and for all the progress we have made, we know we are not there yet: the challenges that tomorrow will bring are huge.

Europe is confronted with climate change: environmental and health issues. Demographic change: shrinking and wrinkling population. Growing inequalities: Too many families, in cities as in rural areas are left behind.

Going forward we must use the European Pillar of Social Rights and the Sustainable Development Goals as our compass!

★ To guarantee all children the education they need;
★ To guarantee work-life balance for all families;
★ To strengthen the social safety net and build a healthy and sustainable future.

We learned that change only happens when people get involved, get engaged and come together. And after 60 years we still believe that it is the beating heart of our organisation. I thank my colleagues of the board of COFACE and all our members for their active involvement and nice cooperation, I thank all our members for their engagement and our partners for their support. Especially thanks to our remarkable staff based in Brussels. More than ever, pluralistic civil society organisations like ours need broad support to promote core European values. We are the watchdogs and agents of change drawing attention to the emerging needs of families.

ANNEMIE DRIESKENS
President
COFACE Families Europe is a pluralistic network of civil society associations representing the interests of all families. It was founded in 1958. With 58 member organisations in 23 European countries, we represent more than 25 million families in Europe.

COFACE’s focus is essentially on policies and legislation that impact the lives of children and families, in particular in the fields of social protection and inclusion, safeguarding the rights of persons with disabilities, prevention and fighting child poverty, reconciling family and work life, migration, inclusive education and early childhood education and care, parenting support services to families, information and communication technologies, health and consumer policies and other relevant policy areas.

COFACE Families Europe advocates for policies of non-discrimination and equal opportunities between persons and between family forms, and specifically supports policies aimed at increasing equality between women and men, with a special focus on reconciliation between work, care and family life.
MISSION
Our mission is to promote the well-being, health and security of families and their members in a changing society and serve as a trusted entity for family mainstreaming and for the voice/needs of families in the EU and beyond.

VISION
Our vision is to work towards a family friendly environment, enabling all families and their members to benefit from sufficient financial resources, available quality services and adequate time arrangements in order to live and enjoy their family life in dignity and harmony.

On the International Day of Families 2018, the United Nations celebrated families and inclusive societies, highlighting the role of families and family policies in advancing Sustainable Development. On this occasion, COFACE Families Europe celebrated its 60th anniversary looking back at the achievements of family organisations in Europe, and starting from there to build a sustainable future for all families.
SHAPING FUTURE POLICIES AND LEGISLATION

COFACE Families Europe held an expert meeting in Paris on work-life balance, divided into three parts:
- Session 1: Focus on family policy matters in France and exchange with peers on challenges, successes, commonalities.
- Session 2: Focus on the EU context and namely the EU work-life balance directive and its impact in different countries.
- Session 3: Focus on services to families, with a spotlight on childcare and the need for common COFACE action to push for more investments in this sector.

COFACE Families Europe launched a communication action around the International Women’s Day from March 1st to the 8th. This action, called “The March of the Penguin” aims at highlighting the difficulties faced by women today in relation to their work-life balance, and the need for shared parenting, much like penguins do in nature.

COFACE Families Europe published an Open Letter to President Macron urging him to support the EU work-life balance directive.

Media release to stop blocking the progress of negotiations on the EU work-life balance directive. We demanded the realisation of the FULL package proposed in the EU worklife balance directive, with the acknowledgement of families in all their diversity.

The #IWantWorklifeBalance campaign had a video social media wave to call for the adoption of the EU work-life balance directive in the trilogue process in October.

The work-life balance coalition of NGOs released a joint statement to call on the Council of the EU to adopt a position on the EU work-life balance directive – this was in the run-up to the EPSCO Council in June.

COFACE Families Europe published an assessment of the Council position on the EU work-life balance directive after the EPSCO Council agreed on a General Approach.
COFACE Disability Platform meeting and field visit hosted by the Institute of Robotics for Dependency in Spain.

UN Written Statement on the challenges and needs of family carers in Europe approved by the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

As member of the European Expert Group on the Transition from Institutional to Community-based Care (EEG), COFACE held a technical meeting in the European Parliament entitled “Future of the EU funds for the transition from institutional to community-based care”.

We carried out joint advocacy initiatives in relation to the EU budget negotiations, namely to ensure the proposed legislation for the future budget prioritises the implementation of the European Pillar of Social Rights, with a view to unblocking funding to support thousands of children, persons with disabilities, persons with mental health problems, homeless people and their families will have access to community-based social services.

COFACE Families Europe and COFACE Disability are working on informal care, affecting the life of many European families. Their work is based on the European Charter for Family Carers which they developed 10 years ago. In order to boost implementation of the Charter, they supported the EU work-life balance directive, and published a position paper on the family dimension of long-term care.

COFACE presents its study “Who cares?” on the challenges and needs of family carers in Europe around Brain Awareness Week, and the study is now available in French.

COFACE made a submission to the UN Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities on Articles 4(3) and 33(3) of the UN CRPD relating to consultation and involvement of persons with disabilities, including children with disabilities in decision-making processes through their representative organisations.

COFACE Families Europe intervened during the International Conference ‘Best practice in support of carers’ held in Prague.
On the 7th of June, CEPS, in partnership with ECMI and ECRI, held their Fintech Day where the discussion focused on the balance between innovation and regulation. COFACE Families Europe spoke on the first panel session, entitled “Privacy rights and financial innovation: how to promote both?”

A New Deal for Consumers: Commission strengthens EU consumer rights and enforcement – we monitored this as part of the EU advisory group on the fitness check of EU consumer legislation.

In June, COFACE Families Europe officially joined Finance Watch as associate member. Finance Watch is an independent non-profit Members’ association set up in 2011 to act as a public interest counterweight to the powerful financial lobby.

COFACE spoke on the panel of ESAs Consumer Protection Day dedicated to virtual currencies, representing the voice of civil society and examining the wider societal implications for the emergence of a specific category of virtual currencies (crypto-assets) and what opportunities and challenges lie ahead.

On the 24th of April, COFACE Families Europe spoke at the Federation of European Direct and Interactive Marketing (FEDMA) event on privacy and the digital single market. COFACE Families Europe spoke on the first panel entitled “Privacy and online services: can users have it all?” and covered many issues related to the online business models which are over-reliant on advertising and how this affected privacy.

We published a report exploring in which way the Danish mortgage system can help families access housing while lowering the risks for both families and financial service providers, balancing the interests of both families (social inclusion), financial service providers (profitability and risk hedging) and governments (social stability).

Families Europe held an expert seminar “Economics at the service of society” on 22-23 November, Brussels, with EU and national stakeholders from across Europe.

COFACE Families Europe launched in December an end of year campaign on toys and diversity #ToysAndDiversity. The objective of this campaign is to raise awareness on the impact of toy marketing and to put a light on gender stereotypes in toys catalogues and shops, but it also aims to show whether the toys are inclusive towards children with disabilities and with migrant background. This year we issued social media cards with checklists, targeting consumers to help them think twice before buying.
SHAPING FUTURE POLICIES AND LEGISLATION

On 1-2 February 2018, COFACE co-hosted the training seminar “Analog Families in a digital world” in Sofia (Bulgaria) with the Centre for Women’s Studies and Policies.

The Commission has launched a public consultation to gather the views of a wide range of stakeholders on fake news. COFACE Families Europe has responded to the consultation.

German member organisation AGF held a European expert meeting “Growing up digital – how can we make the internet safe for children and young people?” The event focussed foremost on the existing measures to protect children and on concrete experiences from some Member States. COFACE Families Europe gave an input which outlined possible future scenarios in handling online risks and made proposals on how to improve the online safety for children and young people, especially at EU level.

The Centre for European Policy Studies (CEPS) held a task force meeting on the topic of blockchain. COFACE Families Europe was invited to provide insight on the potential that blockchain technology brings from the point of view of civil society and his expertise on financial inclusion/access to financial services for all.

COFACE Families Europe is part of the Digital Citizenship Education project set up by the Council of Europe. The aim of the project is the empowerment of children through education or the acquisition of competences for learning and active participation in digital society.

The ICT Coalition for Children Online organised a Forum to exchange on the latest developments and initiatives around child safety online. COFACE Families Europe had a chance to present some recommendations and trends to focus on looking forward.

COFACE Families Europe adopted 13 Digitalisation principles for creating a better Internet and web for all with the aim of ensuring that digitalisation and new technological developments serve the general interest of all European citizens and families.

COFACE participates in dialogue between Commissioner Gabriel and the Alliance to Better Protect Minors Online. During the round table discussions that ensued, COFACE Families Europe President Annemie Drieskens took the floor and presented COFACE’s activities and recommendations related to child online safety.
European Commission published its proposal of the multiannual financial framework (MFF) for the years 2021 to 2027, together with a Communication on the main priorities of next EU Budget. COFACE Families Europe published a statement on the MFF and what we want to see in the future in Europe: “The European Hunger Games: Who will actually benefit from the next EU budget?”

We built European alliances in order to consolidate joint advocacy frameworks with organisations such as Social Platform, European Disability Forum, European Expert Group on DI, Alliance for Investing in Children, Sustainable Development Goals Watch, Right to Energy Coalition, European Platform for Asylum and Migration, European Financial Inclusion Network, and Better Internet for Kids coalition. This resulted in at least 15 joint statements in 2018.

We developed a new module for our “Experience Europe” series, this time focusing on EU funding. This module highlights the diversity of EU funds, and provides key steps to build an EU strategy to access funds. We also contributed to a workshop on work-life balance and the European Social Fund, organised by AIEDL as part of its work on promoting ESF transnationality.

We took part in the 2018 EU social inclusion peer review programme, namely a peer review on long-term care systems, providing the family carer perspective.

We built and maintained bridges with EU institutions, mainstreaming social concerns in social/family policy concerns in the EU social agenda and legal/policy frameworks which have an impact on the well-being of families, and consolidated the role of civil society in shaping EU policy and legislation. We did this through participation in various EU stakeholder groups & committees:

- High Level Group on Disability (EMPL)
- EU Diet platform (SANTE)
- Financial Service Users Group (FISMA)
- European Banking Authority’s (EBA)
- Alliance for protection of minors online (CNECT)
- Multistakeholder platform on the implementation of the SDGs (SecGen)

On 18 June a subgroup of the multi-stakeholder platform adopted a set recommendations on how the European Pillar of Social Rights can support the achievement of the 2030 Sustainable Development Goals. The paper was co-written by COFACE and Business Europe.
A GROWING INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE

Building sustainable and future-proof education systems
European Conference under the Austrian Presidency of the EU #SDG4 #WorldTeachersDay

COFACE Families Europe co-hosted with KFÖ, the City of Graz, the Province of Styria under the Austrian EU-Presidency the “Building sustainable and future-proof education systems. How can families contribute to a paradigm shift?” on 5 October in Graz, Austria.

The starting point for the conference was to explore education in a holistic way and bring the family perspective to debates on education, including the core values of COFACE Families Europe: social inclusion, equal opportunities, solidarity, empowerment, human rights and non-discrimination. COFACE Families Europe considers these essential for building inclusive, diverse and sustainable communities in Europe. 100+ participants from Austria and Europe were present.

Workshop 1: Inclusive education from right to reality: is legislation enough to empower families?

Workshop 2: The transformative power of digitalisation in schools: where to draw the line?

Workshop 3: Childcare in the 21st century: at a crossroads between education, family and social policy?

Workshop 4: Parental support services to address discrimination against their children: how can education contribute to building inclusive societies?

This resulted in four policy briefs which are available on our website.
Economics at the service of society

European seminar with EU and national policy-makers #SDG1 #SDG3 #SDG5 #Economics4All #FinServices3All

On the 22nd and 23rd of November 2018, COFACE Families Europe held a seminar entitled “Economics at the service of society”. The statement “Economics is too important to be left to economists” encapsulated the rationale behind this seminar. Indeed, it would seem that economic considerations and arguments carry more weight than any other when it comes to move the dial in any policy discussion.

The seminar brought together a wide variety of stakeholders, examining “macro”, overarching economic considerations and theories, and the state of the global financial system, coupled with “micro” practical initiatives and actions by local/national organisations helping families to access basic financial services, childcare services and community-based services.

While COFACE-Families Europe’s remit has been focused on concrete measures ensuring that families have access to quality childcare services or basic financial services, it has become clear that the broader economic situation can no longer be ignored, as it plays a central role in determining whether these recommendations are taken on board or not.

The seminar was thus broken down into two parts:

⭐ The first part, examining the state of play of the current financial and economic system and what policy measures could help in reforming it to better serve the interests of society.

⭐ The second part, exploring alternative economic and monetary theories, should the current system be unsalvageable in the event of a major crisis in a more or less distant future.

The seminar report is available on our website.
A GROWING INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE

Online and offline

Through ongoing monitoring of trends at EU, national, local level, we ensure constant information flow on family matters. We collect news through our EU networks to inform local and online communities about EU developments.

We collect news from our COFACE network to raise awareness of EU policymakers about the needs of families. We relay information between EU & global level, through our UN special consultative status.

COFACE, through its website, newsletters and social media channels reaches thousands of individuals, in different segments. To be kept up to date on our activities, subscribe to our newsletter here http://tinyurl.com/cofacenws.

Social media are an integral part of our dissemination strategy. Through our activities on LinkedIn, Facebook and Twitter, we have started building communities of EU and family professionals from different backgrounds, and also built a generalist audience following.

10 Newsletters with 187 articles
12 Media releases
1 Digital exhibition
9 Social media campaigns
305 New followers on Facebook
Campaigning

We build political momentum on family issues (family diversity, gender stereotypes, sexual and reproductive rights, cyber-bullying, challenges of family carers, family reunification of refugees) and on EU matters (Pillar of Social Rights, Work-life Balance, Sustainable Development Goals, European Accessibility Act, EP elections). We use international days (women, families, parents, children, disability and refugees) and communication partnerships (with NGOs, EU agencies, research) for greater multiplier effects and involvement of wider communities in our campaigns.

Spotlight on the #IWANTWORK-LIFEBALANCE campaign

On 23 October 2017 COFACE Families Europe launched the #IwantWork-lifeBalance hashtag on social media. The campaign aims to give a space for people to express why legislation on Work-life Balance is needed. Within many months, thousands of people across Europe supported the campaign and shared their messages with the hashtag #IwantWork-lifeBalance, including Commissioners Vera Jourova and Marianne Thyssen, many Members of European Parliament, national media like the Belgian RTBF... among many others all around Europe.

Spotlight on the #TOYSANDDIVERSITY campaign

With the end of year festivities, many more toys and presents are bought. In December, COFACE Families Europe started again the traditional end of year campaign on toys and diversity. The objective of the campaign is to raise awareness on the impact of toy marketing and to put a light on gender stereotypes in toys catalogues and shops, but it also aims to show whether the toys are inclusive towards children with disabilities and with migrant background. Supporters of the campaign posted pictures of toys, being critical but also promoting those who supported diversity.

External cooperation

An important role of COFACE Families Europe is to function as a bridge between civil society organisations, research bodies and public authorities. We build on the experience of our member organisations and we listen to the needs of families at grassroots level and channel these to policy and decision makers at EU level, daily ensuring links between EU and local realities. In addition to consulting our member organisations, we regularly link up to other networks to exchange best practices, learn about other ways of solving societal problems, and grow our network, on which we can rely for our events, projects and advocacy work.

We are actively engaged in a number of official European Commission stakeholder groups, to which we bring our knowledge about the needs of the families across Europe. This is also the case with key Members of European Parliament. Finally, we also work closely with EU agencies and international bodies.
